
EDITORIAL · WINDHAM MOUNTAIN CLUB

What Is New On The Slopes At Windham Mountain Club

Written for Catskill Mountain Guide · Winter Season 2025–26

This winter brings a fresh wave of upgrades, new flavors, and elevated experiences to Windham Mountain Club. The mountain has been thoughtfully refreshed to make every visit feel memorable, polished, and full of possibility. From redesigned terrain parks and slope side treats to reimagined dining concepts and warm gathering spaces at the base, there is something new to discover at every turn. Whether you are carving corduroy, connecting over après, or exploring new offerings, here is everything waiting for you this season.

A Reimagined Terrain Park Experience

This winter, Windham Mountain Club introduces a renewed freestyle offering with three refreshed terrain parks designed for flow, creativity, and progression. Updated rail colors, improved snowmaking surfaces, smoother lanes, and a cohesive new visual identity give the parks a polished and energetic feel.

Wraparound Park

Wraparound is the perfect entry point for new park riders. Small rails, gentle boxes, and friendly rollers create a safe and inviting area for learning the basics and building confidence.

Warpath Park

Warpath features a fun mix of rails, boxes, and jumps suited for a wide range of riders. The layout encourages smooth laps and natural progression, making it a go to zone for intermediates and for riders working on style.

Wilbur Park

Wilbur brings the highest energy with creative setups, jumps, and lines that appeal to experienced riders. It is built for filming, flow, and all day laps.

Across all three parks, consistent shaping and improved grooming elevate the overall experience and give riders more opportunities to progress.

The Waffle Hut

Located near the C Lift, The Waffle Hut quickly becomes a guest favorite every winter. Warm Belgian style waffles and cozy winter drinks offer a sweet break between laps. It is the perfect place to warm up, share a treat with friends, or give younger skiers a moment to rest. It adds charm, comfort, and a touch of nostalgia to the mountain experience.

Peaks On The Patio At The Base

Peaks introduces a new taste this winter with warm Bavarian pretzels and creamy beer cheese. Located on the patio at the base, it is the ideal stop for a savory snack without leaving the excitement of the mountain. The relaxed, social environment makes it a natural meeting point for friends and families. Whether you are taking a break, waiting for your group to come down, or enjoying the atmosphere at the base, Peaks brings simple comfort and mountain town warmth to your day.

Seasons, Reimagined With Vibrant Flavor

Seasons has been refreshed for winter with a new direction inspired by the bright, lively character of modern Mexican cuisine. Guests will find fresh ingredients, creative dishes, and a warm, inviting dining room that overlooks the slopes. Tacos, shareable plates, cocktails, and festive weekend energy make Seasons an ideal spot to gather after exploring the mountain. Seasons brings color, flavor, and a welcoming spirit into the heart of the resort.

Okami, Elevated Sushi And Après

Okami brings refined Japanese cuisine to the mountain with fresh sushi, vibrant small plates, and cocktails crafted with precision. Led by Chef Mr. Lee, Okami creates a peaceful yet elevated atmosphere that is perfect for après or a wind down after a day on the snow. It blends artistry with comfort and gives guests a unique destination to enjoy with friends and family.

Smoother Flow And Thoughtful Touches Around The Mountain

Windham Mountain Club continues to look for ways to make each day on the mountain feel easy and enjoyable. Guests will notice thoughtful details throughout the resort that support a smoother flow and a more comfortable experience. From the way the base area moves to how gathering spaces feel throughout the day, every part of the mountain has been considered with the guest journey in mind. These touches may feel subtle, but they help create a relaxed and welcoming environment that brings the spirit of the mountain to life.

A Season Designed For More Moments

With refreshed terrain parks, new flavors, slope side indulgences, and warm base area comforts, this winter at Windham Mountain Club is filled with exciting ways to enjoy the mountain. Whether you are learning new tricks, gathering around warm pretzels and beer cheese, or exploring updated dining experiences, the mountain has been shaped to elevate every visit.

We are excited to welcome guests back for another unforgettable season. Take some runs, explore everything new, and then join us for après every Saturday on the patio where music, friends, and the winter energy come together. Winter is here, and we cannot wait to share it with you.
